MEDIA RELEASE: “Think Globally, Act Locally”

The Climate Action Network for a Fair and Sustainable Australia

Householder's Options to Protect the Environment (HOPE) Inc. is proud to support the ongoing work of The Climate Action Network Australia (CANA) who are fighting for a safe and sustainable Australia that is protected from and prepared for the impacts of climate change.

CANA consists of over 100-member organisations ranging from local to international groups working across diverse sectors, ensuring action is taken to:

- Reduce Australia's greenhouse gas emissions to net zero
- Power Australia's society and economy with clean energy and exports
- Protect Australia's people and environment from the harmful effects of fossil fuel extraction
- Strengthen climate leadership and resilience in the most vulnerable communities
- Ensure Australia effectively contributes to combatting the climate crisis on a global scale.

CANA works to achieve these goals by providing the infrastructure for its member organisations to collaborate on and co-design climate strategies, campaigns, projects, policies and proposals used to strengthen climate action efforts across communities and sectors.

CANA promotes the importance of community-led projects, with 30% of its member organisations focusing on climate action through local initiatives. The member organisations also work to create change through environmental protection, energy transformation, research, economic justice, global justice, health, cultural change and faith.

Emphasis is also placed on the significance of intersectionality in the fight for climate action and the impact that racism, colonialism, sexism and capitalism have in determining the communities most vulnerable to the dangers of the climate crisis.
